Shiva Farruggia

10/10/2001 – 12/15/2018

When you came into my life I thought "I've taken care of lots of dogs before! It's my turn to do it on my own. I know what I'm doing!" You proved me wrong. All through our time together I thought I was one step ahead of the game but your perseverance came through. You taught me it's okay to run carefree into the wind but stay close enough to home to never get lost. You have been my companion through thick and thin. Today I brushed my teeth and you weren't there by my feet. I loaded the dishwasher and you weren't there to help with the pre wash. You were the constant in my life. I will never forget how your velvet ears perked up when I sang you the Shiva Rooney song. Every time I see your sister butt fight with Barney I'll know you are there cheering her on. I love you so much and hope you are running on rainbows now. Thank you for always being my girl.
